

Seminar: The use of Systemic Practice in Outreach Work in Communities

Date: Saturday 20th October 2018      Time: 10.30 a.m. - 2.00 p.m.
Venue: York Gardens Library      Lavender Road      SW11 2UG

It is expedient that all those who care for children, families and the wider community consider:

1. What are some of the contributing factors which induce challenging behaviour by some adolescents in families.
2. What action can be taken to help children and young people and their families live less stressful lives in communities which provide a secure base.

About your Facilitator

Hendrix Hammond is the Course Chair for years one and two of Systemic Training at the Institute of Family Therapy. He has extensive experience of working with children and families in a variety of settings. In addition, he has 10 years of clinical experience working in social care, YOT, schools and CAMHS. More recently he has been working with conflictual co-parents and adolescents with challenging behaviours. Hendrix Hammond is very interested in the use of systemic practices in outreach work in communities.
